WALLA WALLA SUNK BY A BARK.

About Seventy Dead and Missing, and Over Eighty Saved.

Steamer is Run Down by an Unknown Vessel in the Fog Off the North California Coast—Experiences of Those Who Escaped by Boats.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES

EUREKA, Jan. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A marine disaster that may develop into one of the worst known to the Pacific Coast in recent years occurred early Thursday morning, when the steamer Walla Walla, bound from San Francisco, ran over an unknown bark believed to fly the French flag, and sank in thirty-five minutes.

As the figures stand now, 32 of the passengers are soon on deck. Capt. Hall quickly realized the condition of his vessel, and that it could float but a very brief time. He immediately ordered all passengers awakened, the life boats and rafts lowered and the passengers were several seamen, who heroically assisted the crew in lowering the people, at the same time using every means in their power to keep the passengers from becoming panic-stricken.

Those who succeeded in getting on the life boats and rafts drifted at the mercy of the sea until about 8 o'clock of the same morning, when the steamer Dispatch observed their distress signal. It was not long until the Dispatch picked up the first survivor. It was Capt. Hall, who at all times remained at his post of duty, thinking only of the safety of his crew.

The ship occurred in the early hours of the morning, and the dark and the intense fog obscured the weather. The unknown bark leaped up onto the blackness and struck the Walla Walla without a minute's warning, and then drew away and was lost to sight almost immediately. A great hole was torn in the side of the Walla Walla, and went down to the bottom of the sea. The Walla Walla, which had been drifting in that vicinity, cruised around all day, picking up persons floating on life rafts and life boats, until she had aboard sixty-three. She sailed for Humboldt Bay late in the night, arriving in Eureka Friday morning at 8 o'clock.

As soon as the news of the collision reached here, the Mayor, Chamber of Commerce and citizens set about to relieve the rescue of their suffering, most of the survivors being poorly dressed. In half an hour, supplies and refreshments were distributed to go over to Humboldt Bay in search. At about three hours after the accident, Capt. Hall, who had been trying to get to shore, was able to get ashore, although he could not make himself heard, although we were shouting at the top of our voices.

"Sixty-three passengers had been lowered. Several refused to be placed in the lifeboats. As the rescuing work was going on, confusion continued to grow among the passengers. It was not long before the last raft was lowered and fifteen passengers put on it. The Walla Walla's bow was submerged, and the stern rose, apparently making a dive for the bottom of the ocean.

"Several people were afterward picked up by the rescue boat, which had remained on the vessel, going down with her, was picked up after being under water a short time. The social deck was broken, and an attempt was made to repair it. The ship was greatly interested in rescue work.

"When the last raft was lowered and fifteen passengers put on it, the Walla Walla's bow was submerged, and the stern rose, apparently making a dive for the bottom of the ocean.

"We then began to row to leeward, and everything went smoothly until about 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning, when a heavy sea struck our boat and capsized it. I know this to be the time, for two of the gentlemen who were on the boat at the time of the accident, when they got back to the boat, had their feet cut off. They were both members of the crew."

"The people of Humboldt had not been able to get ashore, and were unable to help us. The boat was capsized three times. The men, six of whom were employed on the sunken steamer, and seven passengers who left the scene of the disaster in lifeboat No. 7, seven survivors landed at Trinidad Harbor at 7 a.m."

"The people of Trinidad had not been able to get ashore, and were unable to help us. The boat was capsized three times. The men, six of whom were employed on the sunken steamer, and seven passengers who left the scene of the disaster in lifeboat No. 7, seven survivors landed at Trinidad Harbor at 7 a.m."

RAILROAD RECORD. MAKE SURE OF THE ROUTE.

Making Filings for the New Railway.

They Indicate Course Through Utah.

Interstate Commission After Hill's Combine—Harriman in Wells-Fargo.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SALT LAKE (Utah) Jan. 3.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Contrary to all expectations here, the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company has commenced the filing of approved maps of stretches of country to be traversed on the way from this city to the coast.

The first filing, which was made in the United States Land Office today, covers only a distance of twenty miles, but it is at a point that clearly indicates the course for at least a couple of hundred miles additional in the direction of the coast, and seventy miles south of this city, and thirteen miles east of Vernon, and parallels the branch of the Oregon Short Line into the very heart of the Tintic mining district. It is evident from this that its course will extend toward the coast through Mineral, Beaver and Iron counties. It proves to a certainty, Senator Clark and his associates have their eyes on the tremendous tonnage that is expected to come from the great copper fields in the Tintic district, over the new line, and every specific instance of what they regard as violation of the interstate commerce law.

TO GATHER DATA.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The Interstate Commerce Commission's announcement of hearings upon the subject of railroad combinations to be held in Washington means merely that a general hearing will be held upon the subject for the information of the commission, and for the purpose of gathering valuable data.

The commission did not say that it did not expect making an attack upon the combination that has gobbled the railroads of the Northwest.

Rus on the Cleveland Dime Savings Bank is Brought to an End—Creditors of the Syndicate Are Agreeing to Extend Its Paper.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. CLEVELAND (O.) Jan. 3.—When the doors of the Dime Savings and Banking Company were opened today a big crowd was waiting to draw out deposits.

Each person was handed a receipt from the tellers, bearing the following notice:

GERMAN CLAIMS DEFINED.

TIMES LIBRARY CASTRO.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. BERLIN, Jan. 3.—(By Atlantic Cable.) It has been officially announced that the German Chargé d'Affaires at Caracas, Herr von Pilgrim-Batzlau, has handed President Castro a note in which the German government against Venezuela has formally defined its rights in a limit of time set for President Castro's answer thereto.

"In order to best serve the interests of all depositors, the directors have instructed the officers to require notice of sixty days from each depositor of his intention to withdraw his deposit, action to be taken in all savings-deposit books. The assets of this bank are more than sufficient to pay all liabilities and leave the stock of the bank intact."

Shares of stock now being around the bank entrance gradually melted away, and the excitement came to an end.

NOVEL EXPERIMENT.

Should Employers or Employees Fail to Bow to Decision of Arbitrators They Lose Ten Thousand Dollars.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. CLEVELAND (O.) Jan. 3.—H. R. Newbold, chairman of the First National Bankers, chosen to take charge of the financial affairs of the Everett-Moore syndicate, stated today that telegrams were being received from many of the men of the syndicate, asking him to take steps, and agreeing to the proposition to give an extension of eighteen months to the paper of the syndicate. He added that the paper of the syndicate would be speedily placed on a solid financial basis, and that the various commercial properties would not suffer in the least.

GUNNING WEYLER.

Issue Official Decree Forbidding Marriage of Young Officers in Order to Checkmate His Son.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Great diversity has been created by a recent decree of the Minister of War, which forbids the marriage of all officers who are under 25 years old, or of not more than an income (at least equal) to the pay of captain, which in Spain amounts to 250 pesetas a month, nominally worth $50, but owing to the low rate of exchange worth about half that sum, says the Madrid correspondent of the Herald.

Officers are strongly criticizing the measure, for as it is sometimes rare that officers have an income, marriage would mean misery, difficult, and in consequence immorality will be encouraged.

One can hardly understand the purpose of the decree, but it may easily be hinted that it is nothing but a legal device employed by Gen. Weyler to hinder his son's marriage.

The father of Gen. Weyler's son, Secretary Consul de Lanza, is said to be very beautiful.

Seaton Hanged.THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.
ALTURAS, Jan. 3.—This afternoon was devoted to an exchange of repartee and doubtful compliments between the Judge and attorneys in the case of the postman who was accused of being the alleged lynch-er.

The examination of Lafe Harris was continued. He testified under cross-examination that he did not hear George A. Courtwright say that he was not guilty. The defense, Dr. M. J. O'Shea, professor of pediatrics in the Wisconsin University, made his farewell address before the members of this convention, speaking of the kindergarten as the organic factor in elementary education. He said that the kindergarten in this country is at the crisis of its existence, and that in his belief the devotion of its teachers would carry it through. Dr. C. C. Van Lew of the Chico State Normal School also spoke upon the same subject.

Great interest was aroused among the members of the association by the developments of the history department papers. Unjust criticism was pronounced against the note-book system now obtaining in this State, especially with reference to the requirements for entrance to Stanford University. The system was presented by Miss Edith Jordan, teacher of history in the Salinas High School. Miss Jordan's a daughter of President David Starr Jordan.

Prof. R. D. Hunt of the University of California, another speaker, held discussions on the morning, primary, secondary and higher schools. Prof. James E. Addcott of the Central Hotel was hanged at Lookout.

It is understood that today 100 more of the witnesses have turned State's evidence and made a full statement to Atty.-Gen. Post. It is impossible to give a full account of this night, but one of those thought to have given evidence is John Hutton.

As it is known, that the prosecution has been unable to find the man in the Central Hotel this morning, and court was adjourned this morning as Gen. Post sent word that he was busy, and was unable to be present.

KILLED WITH DYNAMITE.
METCALF ACCUSED OF MURDER.

REDDING, Jan. 3.—John Metcalfe, a carpenter, has been arrested on suspicion of having caused the death of Terence R. Rector, a slender man, by blowing him up with dynamite.

The mutilated remains of Rogers, the head, shoulders and a portion of the body of a man who was found in a cabin on a claim near Keweenaw, the ownership of which was disputed by Metcalfe. George A. Courtwright, who was holding the place for Craig, and is said to have been threatened by Metcalfe, in whose pockets, when arrested, were found three sticks of dynamite. At first Rogers was thought to have committed suicide, but now it is known that a dynamite stick was placed on his head and exploded while he was asleep. The County's just rendered a verdict of death at the hands of unknown parties.

SAM PARKER ENGAGED.

WEDDING SET FOR JANUARY 10.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Sam Parker, the Hawaiian millionaire and Premier under Queen Lili'uokalani when the revolution occurred, now Republican National Committee man for the Islands, met a house today to marry Mrs. Campbell, his fiancee. Sam Parker, from whom he inherited $4,000,000. Parker has been here several days, and Wednesday night he gave a party in San Jose, at the home of the Campbells, when the engagement was announced by Prince David of Hawaii. Abby Campbell, one of Mrs. Campbell's friends, reported Parker pledged the bride in an eloquent speech at the dinner, but did not breathe a word of his own matrimonial designs on the widow.

NOT LIKELY TO "WIND."

FRESNO, Jan. 3.—A mass meeting of raisin growers, to call a strike in the interest of the workers, was convened at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Although the call states that its purpose is "to consider a proposal to wind up the affairs of the association," the association, by its constitution wholly dependent on the attendance at annual conventions for the maintenance of officers and committees, being prostrated and unable to hold a strike, it is evident that the strike will be a recommendation of the association.

The resolution, however, in endorsing the George Washington Memorial Association's efforts to establish a great national university at Washington, but recommending that it make no effort to secure funds for the construction of the university, the association, by its constitution, is wholly dependent on the attendance at annual conventions for the maintenance of officers and committees, being prostrated and unable to hold a strike, it is evident that the strike will be a recommendation of the association.

The closing business was then taken up by the strike committee, and a vote was almost unanimous in favor of resuming the strike.

COLUMBUS (O.) Jan. 3.—On the eve of the Republican caucus, the so-called Foraker-Hanna contest over the organization of the Ohio Legislature was still undecided. Senator Mc'Kinnon assured the 35 votes necessary for the Republican nomination for the Speakerhip of the House.

While Mc'Kinnon and Price are claiming 37 votes each, their managers, who "are books" on their conservative congressional Dick, who is the director-general for Mc'Kinnon and the Hanna faction, says: "We gained two in the declarations of Buckley of Toledo, and I think Mc'Kinnon today, if he gets a majority, will refuse seriously to consider the question at all, and I believe that the resultant delay will be short." It is not unusual for a candidate to be getting very tired over so much talk and no action. There never was a time when a candidate could not find a reason for delaying action upon this bill. People have come to the conclusion that the best way to get rid of the bill is to let it go through.

Price, B. Cox, who is director-general for Price, said tonight: "There are still seven doubtful Republican Representatives. We need two or three more, and we want a couple more."

The Price men concede Mc'Kinnon is about 29 of what are called "first, last and middle" men, and the others are about 24 of that class.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Jan. 3.—William A. Seaton was hanged at 8 o'clock this morning for the murder of his uncle, Daniel Riddle, Dec. 6, 1896. Seaton, a white man, was not responsible for the killing.

The execution was devoid of sensational features. The condemned man walked up the three flights of steps from his cell with his keeper, James Price, on one side, and a minister of the gospel on the other. His face was unmoved, his step firm and saitistic.

STOCKTON, Jan. 3.—Stringent measures are being taken to stamp out smallpox here. The health authorities say the malady can be checked quickly. If such cases are reported promptly, and quarantine regulations are observed rigorously.

The Board of Health last evening decided to have the school vacation continued two weeks longer. The board also decided that quarantine regulations should be enforced in every instance for at least two weeks after the recovery of the patient, and that every infected person should be fumigated.

Three more cases were fumigated today and there are three cases in the pesthouse. Most of the cases are very mild, and none serious. No alarm is felt here that there will be an epidemic.

Keeping Up Trouble in Southern Islands.

Lukban not Permitted to Surrender.

Filipino Peace Commission Lands at Catabalogan and the Town is Attacked.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to trustworthy information that reaches the War Department from Manila, the insurrection which is developing in the southern islands is incited and maintained by American renegades, deserters from United States regiments. This astonishing fact has been known for some time to the American troops operating against the insurgents, but had not until now been reported to the civil authorities, who some time ago sent a number of commissioners to the friendly Philippines from Manila to induce the natives to cease hostilities and enjoy the benefits of civil rule.

Francisco Reyes, one of these peace commissioners, who was sent to Samar by Gen. Smith, says there are some fifty Americans serving with Lukban, and that they will not let him return home. The chief of deserters is said to have formerly belonged to the Fifteenth or Sixteenth Infantry. Lukban was endeavoring, however, to collect his scattered forces with the hope of overthrowing the rebels, and declared that he would soon give up the fight, in spite of their opposition.

The remaining Filipino peace commission landed at Catabalogan, the principal port of Samar, the town was fired upon by rebels with a large cannon, the hand stand in the center of the place being riddled. It was the general opinion of the American officials and men that this savage attack was not made by Lukban, as the voices of American deserters were distinctly heard. A few days later, the American troops captured a large insurgent arsenal, with 500 bamboo canons and quantities of lead and zinc.

THEY WOULD KEEP GRANT.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
MANILA, Jan. 2.—Gen. Grant reluctantly decided that, owing to the lack of suitable quarters for troops at Bacacay, and because the place is apparently peaceful, he would remain at the head-quarters of his divisional command. The announcement of this decision has caused a protest, from all the business men in Manila, and the American and Spanish governments, who have sent a joint telegram to Gen. Chaffee asking protection, and declaring that it will be impossible for them to remain there should the troops be withdrawn.

The Filipino civil authorities are anxious that the troops should go, averring that the native constabulary affords sufficient protection.

It is further understood that the Dowager Empress will visit various provinces with the Emperor after he performs his sacrifices. The edict further announces his intention to hereafter give audiences to foreign ministers and come to the foreign board to formulate rules of procedure for these occasions.

In conclusion, the edict contains a declaration by the Emperor that expenditures are excessive, and that the people have no burdensome tax, the extravagant expenses of the imperial cortège. He therefore directs that a plan be arranged for economy in the future.

George Reiss, One of the Passengers, Tells His Story—Gives Credit to the Officers for Their Coolness and Helpfulness to Passengers.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
EUREKA, Jan. 2.—The steamer Walla Walla, bound from San Francisco for Victoria, B. C., was wrecked Thursday morning at 4:10 o'clock by a French four-masted bark. The Walla Walla had 165 passengers aboard, and forty-five are reported drowned. The collision occurred twenty miles south of Mendocino bay. The bark struck the Walla Walla in the bow. At the time of the collision the second officer was on the bridge.

George Reiss, of San Francisco, a passenger, gave the first account. He said:

"At 4:10 o'clock when the French vessel hit the Walla Walla, the boat All were ashore. The weather was clear, the sea was rolling high. All were dumfounded. The passengers rushed out of their staterooms, and the deck was crowded. Capt. Hall went down into the steerage and found a number of seafarers fastened in a room. Two girls, 12 and 14 years old, were between timbers. The girls were released, and the family assisted out of their berths. All prepared to leave the vessel, the captain saying she would sink. Life preservers and rafts were lowered. Life preservers were put on, and the passengers lowered into the boats. The vessel did not sink until 4:15, giving the crew and passengers thirty-five minutes to leave the steamer. Sixty-three were lowered, the life-saving boats then being filled. The excitement grew intense among the remaining passengers. Women screamed and men and boys struggled. Some of the steamer, several not having until it started to sink. The officers were cool and collected, doing everything possible to save their passengers.

"No one knows the cause of the collision but the second officer, and he is dead.

"As soon as the French vessel碰撞了船的前部，船员们纷纷冲向甲板，乘客们惊慌失措。一些人被卡在房间里，一些人被卡在甲板上。船长命令大家离开，但没有人知道原因。

"The Walla Walla was partly submerged, when both boats exploded, sending pieces of the vessel in every direction."

"The tugboat Baubner arrived here at 10 o'clock a.m. with fourteen more passengers picked up along the coast. All those saved were six women. A lady gave me a red shirt to signal the steamer Dispatch. We were recognized, and were soon rescued. The officers, on learning of the wreck, searched for the others until she had aboard sixty-three passengers.

Relentless Decree of the Convention.

Socialist Who Has Voted for a Member of Any Other Party is Scratched.

Imagine a soul excommunicated and cut off forever from the blessings of the Socialist party!

The State Socialist Convention at which the expulsion of the "Black Hand" was voted in session at 107½ North Main street, in Los Angeles yesterday, the third day of the session, deposed the Judas Iscariots of Socialism to such a damnation.

The work of yesterday was the adoption of a State convention, but nothing more important until toward evening when a section was read which "banished forever, from the party any person, who assisted any other party or member of any other party or any member of the capitalist class to gain a seat in the convention."

The greatest waxed fast and furious on the adoption of this section.

"Comrade" Spring supported it.

He believed that the disintegrating element should forever be removed. He got so red in the face, during his battle with the four winds, that I fully recognize the law of the brotherhood of man. I must raise my voice against the adoption of this section.

After the remarks of this visionary had been applauded by most of the women and the old men, "Comrade" Spring, who had secured a permanent seat with the wearers of the red. "To set him adrift would be too great a sacrifice," he said, "but, however, I fully recognize the law of the brotherhood of man, I must raise my voice against the adoption of this section."

After the remarks of this visionary had been applauded by most of the women and the old men, "Comrade" Spring, who had secured a permanent seat with the wearers of the red. "To set him adrift would be too great a sacrifice," he said, "but, however, I fully recognize the law of the brotherhood of man, I must raise my voice against the adoption of this section."

One old "comrade" arose to a point of information and asked what was the answer to the question before the house, but the answer was so obvious that none was given.

"Comrade" somebody or other with a streak of straw-colored hair which fell over his eyes, arose and said: "This measure is to prevent future members from being elected to the convention who have not tried to make us eat; none that are not loyal."

At this point Spring sprung himself from his seat, and, with a shout of enthusiasm, philately and of the ideal brotherhood. "We must abandon everything that regards us, and we can only do this by voting for the resolution to expel every Socialist Arnold who may be within its ranks."

Two or three women and a gray-haired man rose to their feet and voted against the severity of this measure, but on a vote the section was adopted by a two-thirds majority.

The insertion of this section was strongly resisted by the older and more temperate members of the Socialist party, manipulated by the younger bloods, forced its adoption.

The fight was very severe. Mainly caused by the disruption of the so-called Socialists in California.

The above was the statement made by an elderly gentleman who left the hall immediately after the passage of what he terms "that ridiculous measure."

Mr. Huntington in a short interview said: "No, we have no new plans for anything at present. All our people are busy as they can be with work in hand. The 'belt line' is about the first new part of this work to be taken up. I understand some work is being held for it. The material is all in sight. Yes, I should say it will be ready to operate before ninety days are past."

We are doing nothing in relation to the belt line, he continued, for thought of the most important brotherhood of man, but I find that a ring of politicians has got control of this convention and are introducing strange principles that will wreck the organization."

The others nodded their approval and all said that it was a good brand of Socialism. They did not look so unhappy, either, at the prospect of never more being "comrades."

THE PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Capt. George H. O'Donnell was appointed assistant Chief of the fire department by the Fire Commission yesterday morning.

The Pacific Electric Railway Company yesterday asked the Board of Public Works to postpone consideration of the notices of sale of their franchises, and it is probable that a report will be made to the Council on Monday.

Water rentals for December amounted $42,681.

The grand jury has organized with the appointment of sub-committees. An Alhambra orchardist has discovered that through a clerical error he was declared insane, instead of his brother-in-law.

J. F. Creasinger was sued in the Court yesterday by two of his clients.

Charles Corrales was fined $20 for disturbing the peace by firing two shots at a police officer and scaring East ninth street.

AT THE CITY HALL.

NEW ASSISTANT CHIEF NAMED BY FIRE BOARD.

APT. GEORGE O'DONNELL PROMOTED TO THE POSITION.

Appointment in Strict Conformity to the Civil-service Rules—Edicts of Councilmen to Land Outliers Prove Unavailing—McDonald Gets Minority Vote.

An assistant chief of the fire department was appointed somewhat unexpectedly by the Fire Commission yesterday morning. Capt. George H. O'Donnell, who has been in charge of the company No. 4 on Aliso street, was chosen to fill the position by the votes of Kuhrt, Webb and Mayor Snyder.

GEORGE H. O'DONNELL.

O'Donnell has been in the department since October 1, 1890, and is rated as a sober, industrious and reliable man by the members of the board.

O'Donnell was in the direct line of promotion and his appointment is in strict conformity with the civil-service rules of the board.

What strong political backing, if any, O'Donnell had is not known, and his appointment ostensibly comes directly from the Fire Commission.

He was nominated by Kuhrt, who decided that the fire department had been criticized in many months because of the lack of officers.

E. F. McDonald and his appointment were seconded by President Powers.

When the vote was taken, Kuhrt and Frankenstein and Vickrey for O'Donnell, and Powers and Frankenstein for Powers.

"Don't let me get these," Donalds said, "I declare the Mayor, with a smile, as he was to be cast as a dead weight." "I will cast my ballot for O'Donnell," Powers said.

Vickrey then moved to make the appointment unanimous. The motion was seconded by Frankenstein and carried.

To fill the position left vacant by the retirement of O'Donnell, Lieut. Archibald Eley was appointed captain of engine company No. 9, which is now inactive.

Eley has been with engine company No. 9 for a long time, and was appointed Nov. 1, 1892.

John C. Strohm was journeymen about a month ago, there has been more less talk about the appointment of an assistant chief to fill the position, and it is believed that he will be appointed.

The duties that devolved on Robert Burns were very arduous, and the necessity of an officer who could devote his attention solely to fire fighting was right.

For some time the matter has been under consideration, and the name of John C. Strohm has been considerably talked about, but it was not until yesterday morning that he was willing to have the title completed in four months. Whether this is accomplished or not depends in large measure on his health.

Several carloads are now on the way to the Coast, but it is not known just when they will arrive. The company will be able to hope that the poles erected and the cross wires strung before the arrival of the rail.

Citizens of the district who have been exceedingly skeptical of the outcome, are delighted at the prospect of a car-line, although they will not believe that it will actually be put in until they see the cars run right by the door.

WATER RENTALS FOR DECEMBER.

Water rentals for December amounted $42,681. This sum does not include the amount of water which will amount to at least $100 more.

All the money remains in the hands of the water company, although the city has general supervision of the accounts. Whether the city shall get a part of the money, or the water company all of it, depends upon the sale of the water bonds. Late yesterday afternoon nothing had been heard from the city officials, who are now in the city, who are indicating either success or failure.

If the city is able to purchase the plant in the near future, the terms of compromise, a little over half of the water rentals will find its way into the city treasury. Until the deal is closed, the city officials are indicating either success or failure.

The commission has chosen a good man for assistant chief," said Mayor Snyder, "and I am convinced that he will discharge his duties satisfactorily."

Chief Strohm is much improved in health, but it will be several weeks before he will be able to make a full recovery.

Other appointments to fill the positions along the lines of the commissioners will not be made until after Strohm has sufficiently recovered to confer with the board regarding the abilities of the men.

SPARKS FROM THE ENGINEERS.

Vickrey yesterday

applied for a six-month leave of absence from the city. He explained to the Board yesterday morning that he has been suddenly called to New York on business, and will be away at least a month.

"I want to request that the board shall not grant any permits for re-opening gas plants while I am away," Vickrey said. Vickrey, who has been the ardent advocate of such enterprises all along.

"Don't worry," replied Kuhrt. "There won't be a single vote for them if you are away."

Acting Chief Burns reported that he had appointed T. J. McGinley and B. T. Bowes to the positions of engineer and telephone exchange. The men work closely, thus providing an operator for all of the exchanges. McGinley was the man who indulged too freely in liquor, and was discharged some weeks ago. Owing to his carelessness, his action was reconsidered and McGinley was allowed to resign.

Three applications for a permit for a gasoline station at Figueroa and Wilson streets were denied.

Wilson & Snidow were granted a permit for a planing mill at Seventh and Wilson streets.

There were eleven alarms of fire during the week. One was a false alarm. Three fires occurred from gasoline explosion and one from crude oil. The estimated property loss was $105.

DESIRE CHANGES.

OWING to the desire of the Pacific Electric Railway Company for certain changes in the route of three electric-railway franchises, it is probable that the Council on Monday will stop the advertisement which is now running in the official paper.

General Manager Epes Randolph and Chief Engineer G. B. Bowes appeared before the Board of Public Works yesterday afternoon to explain the changes which the company desires to make in the franchises and the notices of sale. While no definite action was taken by the board, it was the opinion of the members that the franchise should be stopped, if it will be granted if the company pays the additional expense of advertising.

Objection is made by the company to the route of the franchises, and the company work to begin at the point on the route farthest from the City Hall. Manager Randolph stated that it would be better to begin at the suburban end of the line and that no service could be given of any of the people until the entire route is completed. The company's construction work would have to be idle until the entire road was completed. Chairman Bowes explained that the company had agreed to prevent speculation in franchises.

Allen was of the opinion that the people in the lower end of the Sixth Street line will be more annoyed by the clause in the notice of sale as the road was to be a through line to Long Beach, and there was no danger that the franchise would be surrendered.

McLain said he should insist on the enforcement of the rule with reference to the belt line which now belongs to the Southern California Hospital of Highland. Right here was where the mistake happened. By some mistake Anderson was committed to the asylum under the name of James Paley and has lived there all these years as if such were real name.

Anderson, however, maintained that he was dependent on the estate for support during his lifetime, but the estate denies him.

Paley's status as a sane citizen became twisted in September, 1887.

At that time his brother-in-law, Joseph H. Anderson, showed signs of insanity to such a degree that it became necessary to file a complaint against him. The doctors heard testimony in the case, and upon their recommendation Judge W. H. Clark, now deceased, ordered him committed to the Southern California State Hospital of Highland. Right here was where the mistake happened. By some mistake Anderson was committed to the asylum under the name of James Paley and has lived there all these years as if such were real name.

TRIED TO PUT OFFICER WISE.

Smallpox Dodger's Very Hard Luck.

C. B. Harton in Role of Happy Hooligan.

Misdirected Philanthropy the Cause of Being Shut Up in Quarantine.

Thirteen unlucky individuals, most of them young men, who were roomers, are cooped up in the Belleville Lodging-haus on Main Street, because of their being at the center of the quarantine placed against the place Thursday afternoon.

Among the unlucky thirteen in quarantine is Charles B. Harton, a newspaper man and former press agent of the Democratic County Central Committee. Hard luck has been pursuing Harton for the past few years, and unluckier still seems to overtake him whenever he turns his head.

While working for the Democratic County Committee in the campaign of 1898, Harton collapsed and was laid up with a long siege of pneumonia and pleurisy in the house where he is now a partner. He got well, however, with the advent of warm weather, and on the advice of the hospital physicians, he decided to make a change.

He took a room at the Little Rock Creek in the Antelope Valley, where Cole has for several years been threatening to establish a beach-sugar factory.

UNEXPECTED EVICTION.

Harton was getting along nicely on the ranch, and the future was looking brighter to him than it had for many months, until the day after Christmas, when a deputy sheriff from Los Angeles, accompanied by a constable of the city, appeared at Little Rock with papers of ejection, ordering everybody, but one caretaker and wife, to leave the ranch on one's notice.

Some ownership trouble dispute in ownership, Mrs. Billings had come into possession during Mr. Cole's absence in the East, and she did not want any of her men to remain on the ranch, which remained on the place. The invalid, therefore, had to trek for Los Angeles, to remain until he could make arrangements for a return to the other side of the mountain or to some other place where the climatic conditions were suitable to his case.

MANNA IN THE DESERT.

During his idle moments on the ranch at Little Rock Harton had picked, hulled and saved several boxes of dried fruit, a large number of which went to waste owing to disputed ownership. These nuts were his sole capital when he was ejected. Through the friendly offices of the sheriff, he was able to sell them to market at Palmdale, the nearest railway station, and on their sale he realized enough cash to pay his fare to Los Angeles.

Upon arriving in the city Harton returned to his old quarters at the Belleville, where he secured temporary lodgings, and began to look about the country again as quickly as possible, and he was negotiating with various parties who have mountain ranches, when he was again taken by a quarantine misfortune befall him, and again dashed his hopes to the ground. His being in quarantine is all the more remarkable, as he had left in a peculiar way it came about. But for his leprosy and desire to do another person's favor he might now be at liberty, although he would be jeopardized thereby.

TIMELESS ESCAPE.

Without any suspicion that there was anything unsanitary about the Belleville, Harton on Thursday afternoon took a notion to change his room and said for it for the night, at another lodging-house farther down Main street. During his absence the chamberlain, who is said to be the landlady's son, became very ill, and a physician who was summoned pronounced him as incurable. The City Health Officer was immediately notified, and he at once had the girl removed to the detective office, and ordered the house placed under strict quarantine. None of the people in it when the girl was taken away were allowed to leave, and strict orders were given to round up all who had slept there the previous night and strayed away.

While the regular quarantine officer was on the main-street premises left away at supper time, Harton was left in charge. While the patrolman was standing guard, Harton came along and started to go up to his old quarters to get something he had left behind when he was ejected. The other patrolman heard and explained the conditions, warning him that if he entered the building he would be shut up in it for three weeks. Harton, however, had congratulated himself on his timely escape, and thanked the policeman for giving him the tip, the officer himself not having been present. Harton was subject to quarantine on account of having slept there the night before.

PUT OFFICER WISE.

Late in the evening Harton saw a man in plain clothes standing at the entrance of the quarantined house, in lieu of the uniformed officer whom he had previously encountered, he felt it duty to put the stranger off.

The hooligan, however, could not put his foot in deeper than Harton did, when he acted on the impulse to warn a stranger that he was treacherous.

The man he tried to put next was O. J. Majors, the vigilant quarantine officer, who had returned to his post and was waiting in wait for persons who had slept in the tainted house the previous night.

"My friend, you would better keep an eye on your house or they may have you in quarantine. They have been in a case of smallpox upstairs," said the lecherous but well-meaning Harton.

MISDIRECTED PHILANTHROPY.

Harton then explained how he had been rooming there himself and how little he was to make his escape.

"Well, I'll tell you what will happen; you will have to sleep here again tonight and every other night for the next three weeks. I've been waiting for you to tell me who got sick."

Happy Hooligan was more surprised than he was when he learned his mistake, but too late.

Majors had him and would not let him go.

Harton sent for a friend to intercept him, and he shows the effects

Powers was roused out of bed by telephone and the case was explained to him, but he could do nothing to exempt the unfortunate man from his impending doom.

NO CHANCES TAKEN.

Dr. Powers enforces the quarantine regulations with stern impartiality, and if the State authorities were half as vigilant in preventing the importation of smallpox from Arizona and New Mexico, where it is always more or less prevalent, as the Medical Board, there would be few outbreaks of the scourge in Los Angeles.

The prompt and drastic measures adopted by the State Board of Health have prevented the disease from getting much of a foothold in Los Angeles this winter. There have been a few smallpox cases. There have been promptly isolated and discontinued and quarantine have prevented contagion.

Upon the whole there have been no more cases than in almost any other city in the state, and the disease has not spread.

Tourists do not run any greater risk of contracting the smallpox here than in their home localities, where there are periodic cases. There have been promptly isolated and discontinued and quarantine have prevented contagion.

The people shut up in quarantine at the Belleville are cared for and fed at the expense of the city, and are being made as comfortable as possible under the circumstances.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Dr. R. W. Hill, president of the State Board of Health, returned to Los Angeles Thursday from Phoenix, Ariz., where he has been in conference with Gov. Murphy concerning the treatment of a territorial board of health for Arizona. Dr. Hill states that California stands in constant danger of smallpox, especially smallpox, from that direction, as Arizona has no official health officers.

Gov. Murphy assured Dr. Hill that he would do all in his power to protect California.

"Gov. Murphy is full in sympathy with our desires in this regard," said Dr. Hill. "He is in favor of the establishment of a Territorial board of health; but the last Arizona Legislature refused to establish one. However, the county officers have instructed the supervisors of all the county health officers, who are to enforce a rigid quarantine on all persons infected with smallpox, who enter the state, and the State of this State by crossing the line. These county officers will perform their same functions as are performed by our state board. California will now be protected from the greatest danger, smallpox, with which Arizona has threatened us at different times."

SCHOOL CASE.

A child who had been given to be a case of variola was taken out of the eighteenth-street school a few days ago, and had been placed in quarantine.

JOHN FLOOD'S WIFE LOOKING FOR HIM.

ALSO FOR EIGHT HUNDRED DOLLARS THAT HE TOOK.

Police Think Flood is the Man Who Went Off With Little Miss Ruby M. Lockhardt—He Left Behind a Bride of a Month.

John E. N. Flood, for a long time conductor on the University line of the Los Angeles Railway Company, left the city Tuesday, and, according to a statement made to the detectives by Mrs. Flood, he deserted a wife whom he had married less than a month ago, Mrs. Anna, by his first bride, to have a lover with whom something near $800, every cent she had, leaving her without means of earning a livelihood, and dependent upon relatives for food.

This is not all the man is accused of, for it is supposed that when he left the city with him went Ruby M. Lockhardt, a wealthy young woman of 17 years. It is known that he is a member of the church who is said to be the landlady's daughter, became very ill, and a physician who was summoned pronounced her as incurable. The City Health Officer was immediately notified, and he at once had the girl removed to the detective office, and ordered the house placed under strict quarantine.

None of the people in it when the girl was taken away were allowed to leave, and strict orders were given to round up all who had slept there the previous night and strayed away.

MENTONE POWER COMPANY GETS ONE FOR HIGH BID.

Engines of Santa Fe Limited Meet and Topples Over at Barstow, Causing Five Thousand Dollars Damage—Crooked Railroad Built.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 3.—[From The Times' Correspondent.] At an adjourned session of the City Council last evening, the Mentone Power Company was awarded a franchise to set its poles and string wires along the streets. The franchise was awarded after spirited bidding, and cost much more than any one anticipated. The City Clerk announced that one bid for the franchise had been received. It was that of Otto Weisz, secretary of the Mentone Company, $10,000. When asked if any one cared to raise the bid, Mr. J. W. Waters, representing unknown parties, put in a bid of $220. Then Weisz and Waters commenced bidding against each other, and the figures rose rapidly. Waters' highest bid was $1250, and the franchise was given to Weisz, provided the money is deposited to the city's credit today. Waters declined to say for whom he was bidding, but the belief is general that he was working in the interests of the Edison Company, which is in lively competition with the Mentone corporation, with which there are two other companies interested in the San Gabriel Electric Company and the Sierra Power Company.

VICTORY OF WAR.

MONTROVIA.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The funeral of Lewis M. Fay, aged 24 years, was held yesterday afternoon.

The young man came to Montrovia three months ago with his mother and brother. He was born and reared in Worcester, Mass., and his brother served in the Spanish-American war in the Second Massachusetts volunteers.

The services were conducted by Rev. J. Van Meter.

MONTROVIA BREVIETIES.

The installation of officers in Montrovia Camp, Woodmen of the World, took place last evening with the following result: Consul Commander, P. S. Clegg; Adjutant, Lieutenant-Colonel D. H. Handley; Quarter Master, C. N. Whitaker; Clerk, J. W. Harvey; Escort, L. E. Hotchkiss; Watchman, E. C. Miles; Grant, Holcomb; F. C. Finkney, J. J. Stove.

E. Harris and wife will leave Monday for Washington, D. C. As a member of the Maritime Canal Company, and the person who did all the work, he was entitled to a pension from the company.

A citizen's meeting held at the City Hall Thursday evening declared in favor of the location at Third street and Utah avenue.

W. H. Taft, city engineer, was present.

It was decided to have a public hearing on the question.

Willis Sluson and the San Joaquin Ranger Tabernacle kept the San Joaquin Mountaineers in camp at the same time.

Most of the time in November and December, Col. Crawshaw was about Zaca Lake. The differences will soon send maps to showing the ground that has been covered.

The work has been accomplished by the Forest and Water Association of Angeles, in cooperation with the States Bureau of Forestry, the association having gathered the seeds.

It is also desired that the seeds be distributed near the mountains.

Willis Sluson and the San Joaquin Rangers will plant trees in the mountains.

Next week will be observed as a

Lost His Tools.

S. D. Wallace, a painter who lives at No. 113 Bequena street, left all his brushes and tools at a hotel at No. 171 West Esplanade, where he had been working. Some thief found them, and yesterday Wallace had to purchase an entirely new outfit, including a suit of overalls.

Charged With Burglary.

J. Krause was arrested yesterday morning on a charge of burglary, and will be given his preliminary examination today in the Police Court. On New Year's Day he is alleged to have entered the room of G. S. Smith, No. 311 West Third street, and to have stolen several articles of clothing.

To Serve Her Sentence.

Susie Cuvaz was locked up in the City Jail last night to serve a sentence of three months for breaking and entering. She is a middle-aged woman and is a familiar character on Commercial street. After her trial she appealed the case to the Superior Court, and that tribunal affirmed the judgment of the Police Court.

Masonic Event.

The members of Los Angeles Commandery, No. 2, Knights Templars, are preparing for a big event next Saturday evening. The annual Order of the Red Cross will be conferred on a class of seventeen candidates. Visitors will be present from all parts of the country. The Superior Court, and that tribunal, affirmed the judgment of the Police Court.

The Ionic Society.

The Ionic Society of the Commercial High School held an interesting meeting Friday afternoon, following the annual meeting of the school. Officers of the Red Cross will be conferred on a class of seventeen candidates. Visitors will be present from all parts of the country. The Superior Court, and that tribunal, affirmed the judgment of the Police Court.

Baby's Long Walk.

The three-year-old son of Charles Ramsey, an employe of the Southern Pacific, walked away from home, Southern seven miles, on Christmas eve, yesterday morning, and although a score of persons searched through the neighborhood, the child was not found until 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Then the police were notified that the lost child had been picked up near Santa's street on Washington. The little fellow had walked more than two miles.

G.A.R. Installation.

The new officers of Stanton Post, G.A.R., and of Stanton Women's Relief Corps, were publicly installed last night at the hall of the First Baptist church on Spring street. The hall was prettily decorated with flowers and a large crowd was present to witness the ceremony. A short address was made, a programme was rendered and a pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation of an opal and diamond ring to Mrs. George W. Lainhart, Post E. Johnson, the jewel being presented by Mrs. Cynthia B. Clapp on behalf of the members of the corps.

Welsh People Meet.

The Cambro-American Society opened its annual meeting at the Hotel Roosevelt yesterday evening in Lincol Hall on South Spring street. The society is composed of Welsh people residing in Los Angeles and neighboring cities. All meetings are held. The hall was comfortably filled, and a short programme was rendered. Rev.
